TEAM SPIRIT NEWS

Process Improvement!

Linda Grote and Holly
Sexton, facilitators for Systems Improvement
Team #1: Educational Programs and Services, are guiding the team through a
"test run" with Shelton
State's new Process
Improvement Form (PIF).
The new form was designed by students in the commercial art department
to be used by customers of the college (students,
parents, employees, alumni,
employers, public officials,
etc.) to make suggestions,
communicate ideas, or identify opportunities for improving the processes
through which we provide services.

The SI Team receives the PIFs, evaluates and scores
each one based on five objective criteria: ability
to change, performance,
institutional impact,
customer impact, and cost.
Ability to change involves the degree of difficulty to fix a process. Performance refers to how well the existing process is working. Institutional impact relates to the overall effect of the process
on college operations.

Customer impact is how much the customer really cares. Cost is an estimate of what the cost might be to improve the process. Each team member scores each PIF, the scores are totaled for the team, and priorities for improvement projects are set based on the scores. The higher the scores, the higher the priorities.

After the "trial run," SI Team #1 will evaluate and refine the process. After that, PIFs will be made available to all our customers. Total quality means striving for continuous improvement and improved customer satisfaction. We're on our way!

Flying High!

Have you noticed the TEAMSpirit bulletin board located on the public relations board in the central hallway of the Skyland Campus? Each month a new theme is displayed to promote the TEAMSpirit PROGRAM. THIS MONTH FEATURES COLORFUL KITES WITH A MOTTO of "Flying High" to symbolize the high purpose felt by team members as they continue their journey toward continuous quality improvement. But who is responsible for this handiwork? The TEAMSpirit Implementation Design Team (IDT) has a Delta Team (three-member team) for publicity. Members include: Judy Holland; John Speights; and Muriel Campbell. The bulletin board is just one visible way the publicity team has found to constantly promote TEAMSpirit. Special thanks to Muriel Campbell for her creative ideas and steadfast commitment to TEAMSpirit.

SHELTON MUSIC STUDENTS RECEIVE HONORS

Kelvin, Hyche, a voice student of Glinda Blackshear, won first place in his category of the National Association of Teachers of Singing state auditions which were held at Jacksonville State University recently. Kelvin is a popular performer with the Bach to Rock ensemble and played Marcellus in Shelton's production of THE MUSIC MAN. He also participated in the Collegiate Honor choir in January, and in February, he was soloist for the Black History Month program at Shelton.

Jennifer Wyatt reached the semi-final round of her category at NATS. She has been in several Theatre Tuscaloosa productions and will play Fiona in Shelton's spring production, BRIGADOON.

Other Shelton students who sang in the SATS state auditions were Amanda Beams, Adrian Moore, Noelle Norris, Kevin Payne, Will Marable, Cliff Lewis, Eric Lowe and Craig Banks. Shelton State was the only two-year college participating in the state competition.

SHELTON INSTRUCTOR NAMED TO EDITORIAL ADVISORY BOARD

Shelton State instructor Carole Hill has been invited to join the Editorial Advisory Board that will be used to evaluate the current edition of THE SOCIOLOGICAL OUTLOOK, an introductory-level sociology textbook. Two instructors from each region of the United States have been invited to serve on this board.

As a member of the advisory board, Hill will be asked to give her reactions to the text and to obtain feedback from students in her class. The text will be adopted for one term during the Summer semester by Hill and will be evaluated by students in the classroom.

Hill is an instructor of sociology and genealogy for the college.

FROM THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Shelton State's music department was again well represented at the annual two-year college music showcase held recently at Samford University. The Brass Ensemble, directed by Stewart Hampton, placed first in the Instrumental Ensemble Category. The Shelton State Jazz Ensemble, directed by Alan Blackshear, placed second.

In the concert choir category, the largest area of competition, the Shelton Singers placed second. The Shelton Singers, directed by Glinda Blackshear, have placed either first or second in every showcase in which they have competed.

Syble Coats, the originator of the showcase concept, was again elected treasurer, and Glinda

Blackshear was elected secretary for Showcase '97.

For the second year in a row, Shelton State's music department has been invited by the Tuscaloosa Music Club to join them in a concert to raise funds for scholarships.

On Sunday, March 17, a concert will be given at 2 p.m. at Covenant Presbyterian Church by the Shelton State Brass Ensemble, the Shelton Singers, and the Jazz Ensemble.

Tickets are available from any ensemble member or from any music club member or by calling Glinda Blackshear at the college, 391-2344.

Tuscaloosa Music Club awards scholarships to students majoring in music at the University of Alabama, Stillman College, and Shelton State.
